A Special Price on these Classics on Mass Movements to Christ

Indonesian Revival: Why Two Million Came to Christ

Avery Willis
ISBN 0878084282
Retail: $16.99
Special Price*: $2.00
Use coupon code MFM06

A first-rate book which delves into the factors – both functional and dysfunctional – of the growth of the Javanese churches during the now-famous Indonesian Revival. The insights depicted here should be studied by anyone seriously concerned about church growth and, most of all, by every Indonesia-bound missionary.

The Satnami Story: A Thrilling Drama of Reli- gious Change

Donald McGavran
ISBN 0878082255
Retail: $5.95
Special Price*: $2.00
Use coupon code MFM06

Donald McGavran, researcher, strategist and apologist for Christian world missions, is considered the father of the church growth movement. In The Satnami Story we meet McGavran the field missionary. This book contains delightful narrative and also provides glimpses of missionary life and labor in India in the mid-twentieth century.

Batak Blood and Protestant Soul: The Development of National Batak Churches in North Sumatra

Paul Pederson
Retail: $3.95
Special Price*: $2.00
Use coupon code MFM06

An account of one of the most amazing breakthroughs in modern mission history, this book has vital insights that are applicable to many fields today. This book examines the progression of the Batak churches, their active response to crisis, and the missionary penetration of Batak society.

People Movements in the Punjab

Frederick E. Stock
ISBN 0878084177
Retail: $8.95
Special Price*: $2.00

"Praying Hyde" is well-known, but many people are not familiar with the movement issuing from his prayers and other forces. This book documents one of the great mission breakthroughs of modern times.

From the Editor's Desk

Dear Reader,

This issue, as usual, is full of excitement. Cliff-hanging issues revolve around things explained, proposed and suggested here.

One book mentioned, Unshackled and Growing: Muslims and Christians on Their Journey to Freedom (see page 86), underlies, in one sense, the majority of all the documents IJFM presents and has presented. The very title of the book turns on the assumption that present-day Christianity is not the norm to which we are seeking to draw all men, so to speak. Christianity today is an authentic Biblical tradition which nevertheless has been wrapped in so many layers of culture that, at this point in history, even though authentic, it must be seen as only one flavor of Biblical faith, not the only flavor. This is why it is both arbitrary and unnecessary for Muslim followers of Christ (or anyone for that matter) to take on the faith we call Christianity as currently clothed. But such a view will meet earnest opposition in the next issue.

It is not too soon to look forward to our fall meeting of the International Society of Frontier Missiology, held in conjunction with the annual meeting of the Evangelical Fellowship of Mission Agencies (EFMA). Note the announcement on page 45.

This year a high point of the meeting will be the presence of Dr. Dudley Woodberry, who is one of the world-level scholars of Islam, and also Gary Corwin, who is Associate Editor of Evangelical Missions Quarterly, whose insights range over the entire sphere of mission. Their views diverge in fascinating ways. We can expect a real treat from them and other speakers and seminar leaders. The ISFM meeting will be in the same place as the annual meeting of the EFMA, but begin the evening before. Remember, the ISFM is the only intentionally intergenerational scholarly society of missiology. Students are especially welcome. See www.ijfm.org/isfm/annual.htm for more details on this meeting.

Finally, don't miss the report on page 45 of a strategic partnership you'll want to know about.

Enjoy,

Ralph D. Winter

The IJFM is published in the name of the International Student Leaders Coalition for Frontier Missions, a fellowship of younger leaders committed to the purposes of the twin consultations of Edinburgh 1980: The World Consultation on Frontier Missions and the International Student Consultation on Frontier Missions. As an expression of the ongoing concerns of Edinburgh 1980, the IJFM seeks to:

- ☞ promote intergenerational dialogue between senior and junior mission leaders;
- ☞ cultivate an international fraternity of thought in the development of frontier missiology;
- ☞ highlight the need to maintain, renew, and create mission agencies as vehicles for frontier missions;
- ☞ encourage multidimensional and interdisciplinary studies;
- ☞ foster spiritual devotion as well as intellectual growth; and
- ☞ advocate "A Church for Every People."

Mission frontiers, like other frontiers, represent boundaries or barriers beyond which we must go yet beyond which we may not be able to see clearly and boundaries which may even be disputed or denied. Their study involves the discovery and evaluation of the unknown or even the reevaluation of the known. But unlike other frontiers, mission frontiers is a subject specifically concerned to explore and exposit areas and ideas and insights related to the glorification of God in all the nations (peoples) of the world, "to open their eyes, to turn them from darkness to light and from the power of Satan to God." (Acts 26:18)

Subscribers and other readers of the IJFM (due to ongoing promotion) come from a wide variety of backgrounds. Mission professors, field missionaries, young adult mission mobilizers, college librarians, mission executives, and mission researchers all look to the IJFM for the latest thinking in frontier missiology.
